The pupils of Mrs. Dukes' room enjoyed a line party Thursday night after which the 21 pupils spent the night with Mrs. Dukes. After the show, radio eggs, chicken ballets and nightgowns played an interesting part in the rest of the program.

They returned to school Friday with a vision only of the last 10 hours of their history. The pupils and Mrs. Dukes visited to thank the parents for their cooperation in helping to make this a success and wish to thank Mr. Dixon for transporting them home in his trailer and Mrs. Shooking for being so kind to return them safe to school. We might drop this hint: Who could help from doing wonders with such cooperation.

Sunday's Easter weather found it in Sunday school. A very interesting lesson was taught on the "Restoration of Christ" after which an egg hunt was enjoyed. Miss Vane entered the contest for finding the last intermediate class and Paul Gibson earned an Easter basket full of Easter eggs in the primary department.

Friday is to be a "day of days" at Fairview. This is to be community day. The North Carnegie club is sponsoring the day and at this time the school yard is to be beautiful. Trees, vines, flowers and "most everything" will be planted. There will be a basket hunt at noon and the entire community is expected to participate. Come and let us get better acquainted as well as beautify our school.

Watch for news items for the next announcement of our P. T. A.

The school enjoyed a vacation Tuesday afternoon, so this was annual school closing.

THE HERALD, CARNEGIE, OKLAHOMA

I TALKED the other day with a distinguished woman friend about this country and about the nearly fifty people who had a complexion that would show every wrinkle and spot only last her son. And when I asked her about her beauty skin, she said:

"Every woman should realize that her skin is the most important part of her beauty. It is the first thing people notice when they meet her. It is the first thing people notice when they meet her. It is the first thing people notice when they meet her."

There are several things that you can do to keep your skin in good condition. First, you should use a good skin cream. Second, you should use a good skin cream. Third, you should use a good skin cream.
