C. M. Tandy was out in the 80th country yesterday and came back full of enthusiasm over the splendid cotton and feed stuff. He reports the cotton well high and baling the ground, unless one looks straight up the wire.
Parties were in this morning after a contest for the four year old son of Jim Tyson, who died at 9:00 o'clock Tuesday night of congestion. The inheritance took place at Round Mound today. We join in sympathy to the bereaved family.
C. M. Bradshaw was in today from Gules and reported crops of all kinds as good as the most exciting could desire. He is taking considerable interest in the election on the proposed amendments to be held on the 4th of August. He is with us in advancing the amendment for the care of dependent Confederate widows and wives as well as some others of the amendments.

BURNED TO A CRISP

WENT HORRIBLE DEATH CHIN BY LITTLE ROCK WOMAN.

TOLD DAUGHTER TO SEE SHOW

Angered Because Husband Refused to Prase Her for Money Saved in Purchase and Heavy Sales.

By Associated Press.
LITTLE ROCK, ARK., July 25.—Angered because her husband would not praise her because of the money that she saved in a purchase for the store and for the heavy sales during the morning Mrs. Anna Lowe committed suicide and the manner chosen was one of the most horrible imaginable. After the conversation with her husband she poured a solution of coal oil on her head and telling her little daughter to watch the show she struck a match and set fire to the oil. She was killed almost instantly and her body was burned to a crisp.

Panama a Possible Issue Next Year.

Senator Morgan's letter to Congressmen Burdette of Texas, written that March and just made public, is interesting reading but far and should be given wide publicity. It runs as follows:
Washington, March 21, 1907.—Hon. Albert B. Burdette—Dear Sir: I venture to intrude upon an acquaintance that, regret to say is scarcely personal, to thank you for your statement printed in the Washington Herald this morning.

I was much gratified when I learned that you would visit Panama, in company with other congressmen, to inspect the canal situation. I felt assured that you would be able to give me a true and accurate view of the actual situation and to conform your judgment to the official report of the canal board. I am sure that your report will be of great value to the country. I am sure that your report will be of great value to the country. I am sure that your report will be of great value to the country.

The canal situation was abandoned, after the Speaker had adopted it, because Wallace ascertained that the houses made by the Wallace commission were, at least, misleading, and that location was impossible.

Wallace was driven from his office for exposing this terrible mistake. The Gates dam was adopted by Stevens on even less definite knowledge of the underlying conditions and forced upon congress by the direct demand of the President in an official message. Additional bargains, made since the Gates dam was adopted by congress, have evidently harmed Stevens and Stevens and they retired in flight from the battle. Time will prove, if you have not already proved, that I am right in this solution of this bagira of the great bones.

Digging pits and further bargains the still going on at Gates and Tait has gone to Panama to inspect them. This is how near the government is to a safe foundation for these enormous and largely expended. The plan is, in fact, more in doubt than it was three years ago.

I will not discuss a plan, or plans, that may be practical. I did that in the Senate that produced no effect, and may never do so.

Your intimation that the Gates dam will be abandoned is already a foregone conclusion with many. Roosevelt's plan is to "make the dirt dry" through the presidential campaign of 1908, and to fill the eyes of the people with it until they cannot discern the real situation. He has given the country an "eye opener" in the facts you have so clearly and expertly stated.

The people will follow your suggestion, and in 1908 will take the canal under their own hands by electing a President who will have someone to serve beside himself and a selected combination. With great respects sincerely yours, JOHN T. MORAN.

Feeling his Junior
"I'll tell you a good way to get on the good side of your junior," said a "new woman." "Just get him to talking about the other people in the building. Every day when I go down to the elevator I say to him, 'Well, how're they coming out?'"

"Say if you could hear the line of him he throws from his chest! I'll bet their ears burn. Then I say saying 'It's a shame' or 'What an outrage!' First one and then the other, and he's awfully nice to me, that junior."

Mrs. J. G. Spurrer and little boy left yesterday for Big Springs, at which place they will make their future home.

RECENT NOTICE OF DEATH

OF HIS SISTER IS O.K.

T. H. Washington of the Abilene Department store received a message Tuesday morning announcing the death of his sister that day at Tulloh, Okla. Deceased leaves a husband and six children. Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Washington, parents, were called from Abilene to the bedside of their daughter about two weeks ago. The bereaved ones have the sympathy of the people of Abilene.
